

Other editions: E-Newsletters

Find it: Jobs | Cars | Real Estate | Apartments | Shopping | Classifieds | Place an Ad

SEARCH ALL

All Local News Calendar Jobs More »

SPONSORED BY:

HOME NEWS HOMETOWNS YOUR VOICE SPORTS PHOTOS/VIDEOS ENTERTAINMENT MORRIS LIFE OBITUARIES BUY/SELL/SHOP EXTRAS CUSTOMER SERVICE

Local Police Blotter Updates Schools Business State Nation/World Odd DataUniverse Opinion Archives Other GNJ pubs

Comment, blog & share photos
Log in | Become a member

Connect with your community.

Building sandcastles serious business at Jersey shore

BY FRAIDY REISS • GANNETT NEW JERSEY • JULY 10, 2008

Post a Comment Recommend Print this page E-mail this article

SHARE THIS ARTICLE: Del.icio.us Facebook Digg Reddit Newsvine What's this?

BELMAR -- Crabs are not supposed to fall in love with lobsters.

ADVERTISEMENT

How to Settle Back Taxes

Cracking the Code of Sexual Chemistry and Attraction

Secrets to Getting Rid of Cellulite Revealed

"That kind of thing is frowned upon in the crab kingdom," explained Michael Albanese, 25, of Point Pleasant.

However, visitors to the beach Wednesday came face to face with a giant female crab who had become smitten with a lobster and run off with him, on the day she was to wed the crab king in an arranged marriage.

Right there on the beach, for all the world to see, the enraged king and his army had cornered the outlaw couple.

Sure, the entire scene was created out of sand the winning entry in the 22nd annual New Jersey Sandcastle Contest. That did not make it any less tragic.

"We're pretty sure Johnny Lobster is going to win the fight," said Albanese, one of 14 people who created what he said was a 40-by-20-foot sculpture. "But you can never tell."

Just less than 11,000 people attended the sand castle contest, the largest crowd in the contest's history, said Domenick Cilea, owner of the public relations firm that coordinated the event. They watched as artists of all ages molded the sand throughout the morning and crafted approximately 300 unique sculptures that lined the beach from 17th Avenue to beyond 20th Avenue.

No trace of the sand art was expected to remain today, but that did not discourage contestants who spent hours perfecting even the smallest details of their sculptures.

"That's the beauty of it," said Liz Maslanka, 51, of Howell, as she and nine friends labored over every window and door of a 12-foot-wide, 8-foot-high castle. "It's a Zen thing."

Elsewhere, Debbie LeSeur of East Brunswick tried to keep up with the five children, ages 6 to 10, whose sand-sculpting team she was overseeing.

"Anything I want to do, they won't let me," LeSeur lamented. "They're very strong-willed."

All the young artists wanted her to do, she said, was to run around the beach gathering black shells for their Spooky Summer haunted castle, which ended up winning third place in the 8-11 age category.

Buy this photo

Tanya Breen / Gannett New Jersey

A group of castle creators build "Castle-saurus Rex" during the Annual New Jersey Sandcastle Contest in Belmar Wednesday.

More UPDATES Headlines

3 die in early morning car crash in Newark

Police deaths drop in first 6 months of '08

Wild ride: Bronx Zoo visitors safe after cable car breakdown

NJ Democrats seek to gain U.S. House seats

Delaware River Port Authority to announce bridge toll increases

Latest Headlines

3 die in early morning car crash in Newark

DRPA set to announce bridge toll increases

Drunk man survives fall onto NY train tracks

Rising costs might curb Rutgers stadium expansion

Woman's decomposing body found in Bronx

ADVERTISEMENT

Still, she said, slightly out of breath from her shell-collecting, she did not mind that their hard work would wash away with the tide.

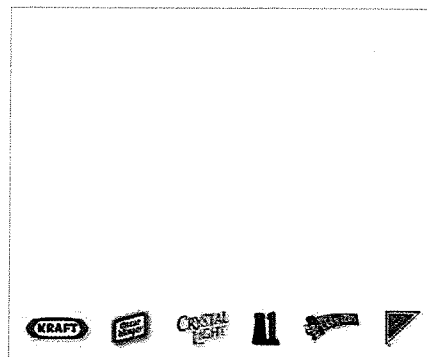

"It's worth it," LeSeur said. "They talk about it all year long."

The temporary nature of sand sculptures is part of its allure, said Frank Sementa, owner of lead event sponsor D'Jais Bar on Ocean Avenue. During each contest, the beach fills up with sculptures different from the year before, he said.

"It's like a museum," Sementa said. "A museum where the art changes every day."

WINNING SAND SCULPTURES

Best of beach: Johnny Lobster 1st place, family category: Mexican Sushi 1st place, day camp category: Brookside Flowers 1st place, ages 16 and up: Flip-Flop 1st place, ages 12-15: Happy Feet 1st place, ages 8-11: Pet Resort 1st place, ages 7 and down: Grand Canyon Race

In Your Voice

READ REACTIONS TO THIS STORY

You must be logged in to leave a comment. Login | Register

Empty text input area for user comments.

1000 characters left

Submit

Advertisement for Wachovia's 'ON THE ROAD' program. Features a 'FREE CHECKING' banner, an image of a car, and a 'apply now > WITH WACHOVIA' button. Includes the Wachovia logo and 'MEMBER FDIC' text.

Advertisement for Wachovia's 'YOUR MONEY & INFORMATION' program. Features the Wachovia logo, an image of money, a hand cursor icon, and a 'get free checking > WITH WACHOVIA' button. Includes the Wachovia logo and 'MEMBER FDIC' text.

Partners: Jobs: CareerBuilder.com Cars: Cars.com Apartments: Apartments.com Shopping: ShopLocal.com

HOME | NEWS | HOMETOWNS | YOUR VOICE | SPORTS | PHOTOS/VIDEOS | ENTERTAINMENT | MORRIS LIFE | OBITUARIES | BUY/SELL/SHOP | EXTRAS | CUSTOMER SERVICE | Site Map

Terms of Service | Privacy Policy | Contact Us | About Us | Work for Us | Subscribe

Copyright ©2007 ... Use of this site signifies your agreement to the Terms of Service and Privacy Policy, updated March 2007.